Verizon certifies that the rate for Local Package Plus is not less than the Long-run Incremental Cost of providing Local Package Plus.

2. Target Market

The target market for Local Package Plus includes customers who:

- Desire a variety of services and features
- Desire a known fixed monthly rate for their telecommunications service
- Desire unlimited local and regional toll calling

3. Rationale for Filing

A basic awareness of the marketplace reveals that many of Verizon's competitors are now offering customers packages of services that include unlimited local and toll usage. While customers continue to look for value in their telecommunications service, increased competition continues to place significant revenue at risk. Market research indicates customers want a consistent monthly rate for all their telecommunications services.

Local Package Plus is designed to complement Verizon's overall strategy to attract new customers and retain existing customers by offering innovative plans to meet their lifestyle and calling needs. Verizon expects this offering to prevent short-term loss of customers and increase long-term customer loyalty.
